

Eurasian Journal of Business and Economics

This issue (vol.10, no.19) of Eurasian Journal of Business and Economics (EJBE) is dedicated to Prof. Dr. Alexi Danchev, a long time editorial board member of the journal, and to his valuable contribution to science.

Unfortunately, he suddenly passed away in Bulgaria, on November 25, 2016. We are deeply saddened by his unexpected death, extend our condolences to his family and relatives.

Prof Danchev is recognized through his studies in economics, particularly on sustainable development, economic adjustment and cooperation as well as environmental policy. His articles are published in highly ranked peer-reviewed journals and cited by other studies in relevant fields. In addition to his achievements in science, Prof Danchev was a devoted husband and father, beloved colleague, and dedicated instructor.

We appreciate his contribution to the quality of our journal, on time and accurate paper reviews, and worthy advices.

His passing is a considerable loss for science and he will remain in our hearts forever.